

APPROPRIATIONS TO BE SHORN TO MEET REVENUE

As One Way of Offsetting Jump in City Budget, $3000 Will Be Deducted From Roads

The board of supervisors meets again this evening and will probably pass the second reading of the appropriation bill and also the rules governing the board's procedure.

Several changes in the appropriation bill are expected as a number of matters are under investigation relative to the stand for economy taken by the minority members.

Acts of the last legislature increased the appropriations of the county government $3970 a month or $48,640 a year, mostly in salaries. The new appropriation bill has been increased $787.12 or a total of $47,857.12. To meet this increase, a reduction will have to be made. According to E. A. Mott Smith, chairman of the finance committee, the appropriations for roads are to be cut $3000, leaving an increase of $1785.12.

Other than this increase and the necessary reduction the appropriation bill is expected to pass approximately as it was during the previous three months. During the three months the members of the board will study the financial conditions and be better able to handle the financial affairs of the city when the bill is again taken up October 1.

SUBMARINE MENACE PRACTICALLY CONTROLLED, SAYS QUEENSTOWN WRITER

That the German submarine menace is believed to be practically under control is the word received by Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from a friend in Queenstown, Ireland. He writes: "In my opinion the submarines are under control over here and the Germans are in a bad way. There has been a vice-consul from Belgium here lately and he tells all sorts of stories about the German atrocities. Among other things he says many Germans have fainted on the streets of Bremen and Hamburg from lack of food."

ARMY-NAVY "Y" WILL ACCOMMODATE 1000 MEN

Room for almost 1000 men will be eventually had in the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., which will be completed by about September 1.

A feature of the reconstruction of the Royal Hawaiian hotel will be the sleeping dormitories arranged on the verandas. There the beds will practically be in the open air and can be had for 25 or 35 cents for the night. Besides these will be the rooms for rent, which have always been part of the hotel.

Old relics which may be picked up in the hotel will be preserved and, as far as possible, the traditional atmosphere of the place will be kept alive, say the managers. W. A. Horne, who is in charge of the work, hopes to have a special room where such things can be kept.

MAINLAND POET FEATURES HAWAII IN NEW DRAMA

To picture truly Hawaii on the stage one should see and study the islands; to portray correctly its people Hawaiian characters are necessary. This is Witter Bynner's way of writing a featured Hawaiian scene in a drama he is now writing. He wants to show Hawaii and Hawaiians as they are or were, not as he might have dreamed.

Bynner, who is a mainland literateur, has just returned from the Big Island with the announcement that his Hawaiian scene is complete. He leaves next week on the Maui, not because he wants to but because only the Hawaiian part of a play he promised to have ready in September is written.

Five Hawaiian actors—four men and one woman—will be necessary to present the Hawaiian scene and the poet visitor says at least four men will be Hawaiians, picked either from troupes on the mainland or taken directly from here. He has already spoken to some here on the proposition. Possibly the woman will be a Yankee.

Although not at liberty at this time to give the title of the play Bynner promises some realistic "Made in Hawaii" settings. On the Big Island he was able to become closely acquainted with a number of natives and to acquire the subtle Hawaiian perspective and charm. He also made some interesting observations on Hawaiian Japanese.

He believes, for instance, that the Japanese here in the islands are better looking than those in Japan, where he visited extensively on a lecturing trip recently. They are more companionable, due probably to a touch of Americanism, he says.

It is known to a few in Honolulu that Bynner "discovered" O. Henry for the better magazines and when asked about it he tells the story thus: "I was just out of college, working for McClure's as a clerk and assistant reader, when I ran across a yarn entitled 'Tobin's Palm,' sent in by a then unknown writer who gave his pen name as 'O. Henry.' It was such a cracking good story that I sent it on with a personal note to our chief, who evidently either thought I was too cocky or else that the yarn wasn't good enough for McClure's, for she sent it back."

"Finally learning that it had not been used I went directly to Mr. McClure and told him he had passed up a mighty good story. In a joking way he asked me if I would stake my reputation on it and I bravely answered 'yes.' He told me to get it at once."

"I had 'O. Henry's' address and started out. I found him in a very bare room, sitting in a big chair in his shirt sleeves and suspenders. He was very timid and retiring and the story lay in an envelope on his desk, all stamped and ready to go out to another magazine. I bought it from him and he started there. Mr. McClure was delighted with it."

Bynner also helped Rex Beach in his earlier works and once recommended to Mr. McClure a book entitled "Loot," which Rex Beach sent in manuscript form to Bynner. Mr. McClure and his associates didn't see fit to publish it and it went elsewhere and was published under the different and now famous name of "The Spoilers," the tremendous success of which is known to all.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Could Do No Work.
Now Strong as a Man.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. J. O'BRYAN, 1755 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

SIX CRIMINAL CASES TO JURY

At least six criminal cases were to be presented to the territorial grand jury this afternoon by City Attorney Arthur M. Brown. The city attorney reports that the jurymen intend to investigate further the letting of the contract for moving the warehouse of Davies & Co., and that R. W. Shingle and W. C. Woodward, former assistant superintendent of public works, have been summoned as witnesses.

Criminal cases scheduled to be taken up this afternoon are as follows:

Yang Chen Kiam, alleged perjury in a trespass case in which Dai Yen Chang was defendant; Charles Merseberg and Fook Wah, charged with assaulting a well known Honolulu woman in an attempt to commit a statutory offense; Victor Tawine, charged with second degree burglary; Choy Ki Sur, charged with first degree burglary; Tsunetaro Itagaki, charged with the embezzlement of $250; Peter Cavallo, charged with a statutory offense.

EGG FAMINE MAY BOOST PRICE TO DOLLAR A DOZEN

A dollar a dozen for eggs in the near future is what the downtown stores predict will result from the present fresh egg famine. Island eggs are becoming scarcer every day, and cold storage eggs are all that can be had in any quantity.

At the Territorial Marketing Division yesterday it was said that not only are island eggs scarcer now, but that they are becoming more and more so. In the future it may be that island eggs can be had only by those who have special orders for them.

The high price of feed has led many poultry dealers to kill off their hens to save the cost of keeping them. That something ought to be done to stop the slaughter of the Hawaiian hen, is the opinion of several local dealers.

Eggs are now selling at the Territorial Marketing Division at 60 cents a dozen wholesale, although there are days at a time when no consignments at all are received.

A recent medical census in New York state showed there were 5735 doctors available for military service.
